

Consider the Master Student Reader for Student Success and First Year/Freshmen Seminar Courses...

The Master Student Reader provides a collection of contemporary readings for self-reflection and critical thinking. The Master Student Reader is a wonderful resource for first year/Freshman seminars and uniquely presents student success material in an academically rigorous format.

Teaching Tips from faculty advisors...

Dean Mancina of Golden West College, Eldon L. McMurray of Utah Valley State College and Karl Mooney of the University of Central Florida give their advice in teaching this text:

“ ‘Sell’ the course—At the beginning of the class, ‘sell’ the students on the benefits they will receive from the course. Talk about how you think it is valuable, what the school philosophy is, and what they can gain academically and personally.”

“Point to transferability—Many of the techniques students learn in this class are the same ones that will help your students build successful careers, form happy relationships, and improve the quality of their lives.”
